

TRAINING

Here at CIBSE Training we always try to provide you with a variety of training options including CPD Courses, Energy Assessor Training, Online Learning and In-house training. Over the last year we have begun to see an increase in the uptake of our In-house training offering.

So, why are companies deciding to do In-house Training?

Training cost savings

Cost per delegate is typically lower than public programmed courses due to the fact we only have to send a trainer to you rather than set up an external venue ourselves. CIBSE training recommend to our clients that they have a minimum of 6 in order to make the greatest savings.

More focused training

Running an in-house training course for a single client can allow the training to be a lot more focussed on the specific subjects and skills that are relevant to your business.

Use real life work examples

Training In-House means the trainer can focus on your company's individual needs using current examples and therefore have the most effect. Delegates can then work on current examples of work which relates to their roles instead of a generic example.

Save time and money on travel

You don't have to pay for the travel, and possible accommodation, to get your employees to the training venue. Our trainers come to you!

Team building

They say the most learning is done when ideas are being bounced off one another. In-house training brings different members of staff from all areas of a company together. This can mean that people gain a greater awareness of what each department does and how, as a company, they can move forward, working together, with their new knowledge from the In-house training.

Get an In-house training quote today

All CIBSE courses can be delivered at your site (minimum 6 staff) at discounted rates. For an in-house quote email the Training Team on training@cibse.org with name of course, approximate number of staff and your site address.